TLD Registry has released a new Chinese Landrush 3.1

The TLD Registry has been very pro active in making sure those that decide to register their strings have tools to help them make better decisions, they know for non - Chinese registrants, some education is needed.

This version is an upgraded version of 3.0, and comes with a brand new feature, as well as a bug fix.

The new feature, which allows domainers to submit your own lists of domain names (in English), and then have them directly translated by experts, in-house.

The bug fix has also cleared up unnecessary hassles. In the previous version some ChineseLandrush name suggestions were registry-reserved, but with version 3.1, ChineseLandrush automatically checks against all reserved names, and will not display matches.
